Your partner in next generation forensics

The year is 2025. The new reality for organisations like yours means global opportunities, but also emerging risks and challenges characterised by the increasing sophistication in fraud, corruption and cyber-crime.

Despite an organisation's best efforts in mitigating these threats, an inevitable reality remains: fraud, corruption and cyber-crime happens.

Grant Thornton Forensic Services understands your needs and the opportunity we have to positively impact your success. Our forensic capability is integrated with our wider advisory services. With the help of our experienced professionals, we offer the full range of expertise you require.

Our team includes certified accountants, certified fraud examiners, certified anti-money laundering specialists, technology experts, former law enforcement officials, computer and cyber forensic specialists, economists, statisticians, controls/process specialists, data analysts and compliance & regulatory specialists.

Our seamless multi-disciplinary approach offers the full range of bespoke methodologies, skills and tools you require as you face the newest trends and challenges affecting your organisation.

We can draw on specific subject matter experts from our 47,000 personnel, including over 3,000 partners from 130 countries. We have true global scale, deep technical capabilities and extensive industry experience.

But this does not make us different. It's how we work with you that sets us apart.

Our client promise

- We discover what's important to you and make it important to us.
- Pragmatic solutions to help you improve and grow.
- Agile and responsive.
- Collaborative teams with a different mindset.

We have the industry knowledge you need to help navigate your regulatory landscape and solutions that exceed industry standards.

Collaborative innovation and empowerment

Our philosophy is centred on collaborative innovation and empowerment.

Most organisations experience fraud and corruption to some degree, including the demands of complex legislation and regulations. The important thing to note is that in dealing with these challenges organisations can be pragmatic, visionary and can position themselves to take a next generation leadership role.
