

Grant Thornton Verification Services (Pty) Ltd

Impartiality Statement

Grant Thornton recognises that in order to safeguard the interests of its clients, government and other parties that rely on information it provides, all its activities must be conducted without risk to impartiality cause by grant Thornton or its related parties.

It is the groups policy that all its member companies operate independently without the existence of common activates that can generate conflicts of interest or impartiality.

Additionally we undertake that any employees disclose any relationship (direct or by immediate family members), or activity that could generate potential conflicts of interest.

It is further our policy not to enter into any agreement (e.g. equity and or debt instrument) with a measured entity that will jeopardise the impartiality of Grant Thornton.

Each application for evaluation will be reviewed to determine whether inter alia it poses a threat to impartiality.

All applications for evaluation are individually assessed prior to a decision being made to accept or reject an application for evaluation.
